Footprint: More than 35 countries; delivery centred in Latin America (Argentina, Colombia, Mexico, Brazil, Chile, Uruguay), India, Europe and the United States

Contact: Official contact route via globant.com contact form

Website: globant.com

Digital-native tier: smaller than the Indian and United States majors by revenue, included for its verifiable scale, listing and published client work — not as a like-for-like revenue peer.

22. ENDAVA — LONDON, UNITED KINGDOM

Founded 2000 · Digital transformation and systems integration firm — United Kingdom / Central Europe delivery · Public — Endava plc, NYSE: DAVA

Leadership — CEO: John Cotterell — Chief Executive Officer and founder

Chair: John Cotterell chairs the executive leadership; Board Chair as published in Endava governance reporting — verify on endava.com before republication

CFO: Mark Thurston — Chief Financial Officer

COO / Other: Chief Operating Officer functions held through Endava's chief operating / delivery leadership published on endava.com — no single COO name asserted

Principal practices: Digital transformation consulting; software engineering and systems integration; cloud, data and AI; ERP and platform work through partners; managed services are a smaller share; industry practices for banking and payments, insurance, health, retail and media

Partner ecosystem: Microsoft, AWS, Google Cloud, Salesforce, SAP and ServiceNow — as published in Endava partner pages

Clients: Clients published case by case, with payments and banking a historic strength; full list not disclosed

Revenue: £740.8 million, fiscal year ended June 30, 2024 (Endava annual report)

People: About 12,000 employees in fiscal 2024 reporting, falling in 2025 restructuring reporting — dated figure given

Footprint: More than 25 countries; delivery centred in Romania, Moldova, Bulgaria, Serbia, Argentina, Colombia and Vietnam

Contact: Official contact route via endava.com contact form

Website: endava.com

Included at the smaller end of the roster on verifiable listing, revenue and delivery scale. Headcount fell after 2024; the dated 2024 figure is used rather than an undated update.

23. PERFICIENT — ST. LOUIS, MISSOURI, UNITED STATES

Founded 1997 · Digital consultancy and systems integrator — United States, now privately owned · Private — acquired by EQT Asia (BPEA EQT) in October 2024 for about $3.0 billion and delisted from Nasdaq (formerly PRFT)

Leadership — CEO: Chief Executive Officer — Tom Hogan was President and CEO at the EQT closing in October 2024; a successor appointment was reported in 2025 and was not verified in official sources consulted October 2026, so no successor name is asserted here

Chair: Chair title not published as a listed-company chair after the 2024 take-private — not disclosed

CFO: Chief Financial Officer — Paul Martin was CFO in pre-take-private reporting; current private-company CFO not verified in official sources consulted October 2026

COO / Other: Chief Operating Officer — Bill Davis held marketing / operations leadership in recent pre-take-private reporting; current title not verified

Principal practices: Digital experience and commerce; cloud, data and AI; ERP and enterprise platform implementation; systems integration and managed services; industry practices for health, banking, manufacturing, retail and automotive

Partner ecosystem: Microsoft, AWS, Google Cloud, Salesforce, SAP, Oracle, Adobe and ServiceNow — as published in Perficient partner pages (the firm publishes partner-tier status for several)

Clients: Fortune 1000 clients published case by case; full list not disclosed

Revenue: $906.5 million in 2023, the last full year as a listed company (Perficient Form 10-K); private-company revenue after 2024 is not disclosed in public filings

People: About 7,500 employees in 2024 reporting at the take-private; current private headcount not disclosed

Footprint: United States delivery with global delivery centres in India, Colombia, Mexico and Eastern Europe (company reporting)

Contact: Official contact route via perficient.com contact form

Website: perficient.com

Honest framing is essential here: Perficient is included as a verifiable mid-market SI, and every post-take-private field that EQT-era Perficient does not publish is marked as not disclosed / not verified rather than filled from pre-2024 filings.

24. SAIC (SCIENCE APPLICATIONS INTERNATIONAL CORP.) — RESTON, VIRGINIA, UNITED STATES

Founded 1969 · United States public-sector systems integrator · Public — Science Applications International Corp., NYSE: SAIC

Leadership — CEO: James (Jim) Reagan — Chief Executive Officer (interim from Oct. 23, 2025; permanent from Feb. 17, 2026, succeeding Toni Townes-Whitley)

Chair: Donna S. Morea — Chair of the Board (as named in SAIC's October 2025 CEO transition announcement)

CFO: Chief Financial Officer — SAIC announced a new CFO in October 2026 in trade / regional reporting; the name was not verified in official sources consulted for this guide, so it is not asserted here. Prabu Natarajan held the CFO role in earlier 2020s reporting

COO / Other: Business groups consolidated from five to three effective Jan. 31, 2026 (company announcement) — group presidents published on saic.com

Principal practices: Engineering, digital, AI and mission solutions; systems integration; enterprise IT and managed services; digital engineering and modelling; cybersecurity and zero-trust (including Koverse); practices for defence, space, intelligence and civilian government

Partner ecosystem: Microsoft, AWS, Google Cloud, ServiceNow and SAP — technology partners as published by SAIC (partner emphasis is contract-specific)

Clients: Almost entirely United States government: defence, space, intelligence and civilian agencies; backlog about $23 billion in 2026 profiles

Revenue: $7.48 billion, fiscal year ended Jan. 31, 2025 (SAIC annual report); $7.3 billion in SAIC's 2026 CEO biography

People: About 24,000 employees in 2025 reporting; about 23,000 in SAIC's 2026 CEO biography — dated range given

Footprint: Primarily the United States

Contact: Official contact route via saic.com contact form

Website: saic.com

Leadership transition is the story: Townes-Whitley departed in October 2025 after two years; Reagan, a former Leidos CFO and SAIC director since January 2023, was made permanent in February 2026 after a national search (SAIC official biography). SAIC and Leidos share an origin in the original SAIC, split in 2013.

25. CACI INTERNATIONAL — RESTON, VIRGINIA, UNITED STATES

Founded 1962 · United States public-sector systems integrator and mission technology firm · Public — CACI International Inc., NYSE: CACI

Principal practices: Enterprise IT and systems integration; mission technology and engineering; cloud, data and AI; cybersecurity and signals / electronic warfare technology; managed services for defence, intelligence and civil government

Partner ecosystem: Microsoft, AWS, Google Cloud, ServiceNow and SAP — as published in CACI technology partner pages (contract-specific)

Clients: Predominantly United States government: Department of Defense, intelligence community and civil agencies (about 70%+ defence / intelligence in segment reporting over time)

Revenue: $7.66 billion, fiscal year ended June 30, 2024; $8.6 billion, fiscal year ended June 30, 2025 (CACI results reporting)

People: About 25,000 employees in 2025 reporting

Footprint: Primarily the United States, with a United Kingdom business (CACI Ltd)

Contact: Official contact route via caci.com contact form

Website: caci.com

Public-sector SI tier alongside Leidos, Booz Allen and SAIC.

26. KYNDRYL — NEW YORK, NEW YORK, UNITED STATES

Founded 2021 (spun off from IBM on Nov. 3, 2021; business heritage in IBM Global Technology Services) · Managed infrastructure services major — ADJACENT to pure systems integration, included with that framing · Public — Kyndryl Holdings, Inc., NYSE: KD

Leadership — CEO: Martin Schroeter — Chairman and Chief Executive Officer (since the 2021 spinoff)

Chair: Martin Schroeter (see CEO)

CFO: David Wyshner — Chief Financial Officer

COO / Other: Chief Operating Officer title not held as a single group COO in published Kyndryl leadership — country and practice presidents published on kyndryl.com

Principal practices: Managed infrastructure services (the core); Kyndryl Consult (consulting and integration); cloud, mainframe modernisation, applications, data and AI, security and resiliency, network and digital workplace — delivered through Kyndryl Bridge

Partner ecosystem: Microsoft Azure (a flagship alliance), AWS, Google Cloud, SAP, Oracle, ServiceNow and Red Hat — as published in Kyndryl alliance pages

Clients: About 4,000 customers including many Fortune 100 companies (company reporting at spinoff and since); named clients published case by case

Revenue: $15.1 billion, fiscal year ended March 31, 2025 (Kyndryl results, May 2025)

People: About 73,000–80,000 employees in 2025 reporting (range reflects workforce rebalancing through fiscal 2025 — dated in Notes)

Footprint: About 60 countries (company reporting)

Contact: Official contact route via kyndryl.com contact form

Website: kyndryl.com

ADJACENT — READ THIS FRAMING: Kyndryl is the world's largest IT infrastructure services provider by its own description, born from IBM's managed infrastructure business. It is included because clients buy it in the same transformation conversations as the SIs, and Kyndryl Consult is an explicit consulting / integration arm — but its centre of gravity is managed infrastructure, not greenfield systems integration. It is not ranked as a pure-play SI.

27. CONCENTRIX — NEWARK, CALIFORNIA, UNITED STATES (GLOBAL HEADQUARTERS IN RECENT REPORTING)

Founded 1883 heritage through SYNNEX lineage; Concentrix as a separate listed company from the 2020 SYNNEX split (Concentrix business built from the 2000s) · Customer experience and technology services major — ADJACENT context entry · Public — Concentrix Corp., Nasdaq: CNXC

Leadership — CEO: Chris Caldwell — President and Chief Executive Officer

Chair: Board Chair as published in Concentrix governance reporting — verify on concentrix.com before republication

CFO: Andre Valentine — Chief Financial Officer (in recent Concentrix reporting)

COO / Other: Chief Operating Officer functions held through Concentrix operating leadership published on concentrix.com — no single COO asserted

Principal practices: Technology and customer experience services; digital engineering and systems integration through its technology services arm (including the Webhelp combination, closed 2023); cloud, data and AI for customer experience; managed CX operations (the core); industry practices for banking, technology, retail, health and travel

Partner ecosystem: Microsoft, AWS, Google Cloud, Salesforce, ServiceNow, SAP and Oracle — as published in Concentrix partner pages

Clients: More than 2,000 clients including Global Fortune 500 companies (company reporting); named clients published case by case

Revenue: $9.62 billion in fiscal 2024 (Concentrix annual report)

People: About 440,000 employees worldwide in 2024 reporting (the large majority in customer experience operations, not engineering — see Notes)

Footprint: More than 70 countries

Contact: Official contact route via concentrix.com contact form

Website: concentrix.com

ADJACENT — READ THIS FRAMING: Concentrix is included for context because its technology services and Webhelp-era integration work compete in SI-adjacent deals, but its centre of gravity is customer experience operations at very large headcount. Its people figure must not be compared like-for-like with engineering-led SIs.

28. EPAM SYSTEMS — NEWTOWN, PENNSYLVANIA, UNITED STATES

Founded 1993 · Digital engineering and systems integration major — United States, Central and Eastern Europe heritage delivery · Public — EPAM Systems, Inc., NYSE: EPAM

People: About 10,500 employees in 2024 reporting; current private headcount not disclosed

Footprint: About 18–19 countries (company reporting); delivery in the Americas, Europe, India, China and Australia

Contact: Official contact route via thoughtworks.com contact form

Website: thoughtworks.com

Private-company gaps are marked as such. Thoughtworks is included for its verifiable pre-2025 scale and continuing published work, not on undisclosed current figures.

30. UNISYS — BLUE BELL, PENNSYLVANIA, UNITED STATES

People: About 16,000 employees in 2024 reporting (company workforce reporting — approximate, dated)

Footprint: More than 100 countries served (historical company wording); delivery centred in the United States, Latin America, Europe and India

Contact: Official contact route via unisys.com contact form

Website: unisys.com

A heritage name at a much smaller scale than its 20th-century peak — included at its current, verifiable size, with the 2025 CEO transition (Thomson succeeding Altabef) stated.

31. HITACHI DIGITAL SERVICES (WITHIN HITACHI) — SAN JOSE / SANTA CLARA, CALIFORNIA, UNITED STATES FOR THE GLOBAL DIGITAL SERVICES BUSINESS; PARENT HEADQUARTERS TOKYO, JAPAN

Founded Hitachi, Ltd founded 1910; Hitachi Digital Services formed from Hitachi Vantara's services business and GlobalLogic-era digital engineering sits separately within Hitachi (see Notes) · Systems integration and digital services arm — within Hitachi, Ltd., Japan · Public parent — Hitachi, Ltd, Tokyo Stock Exchange: 6501; Hitachi Digital Services is a wholly owned subsidiary, not separately listed

Leadership — CEO: Chief Executive Officer, Hitachi Digital Services — Sanjeev Bharadwaj held senior leadership of the business in recent reporting; the current CEO name was not verified in official sources consulted October 2026 and is therefore not asserted as current here. Hitachi, Ltd President and CEO is Toshiaki Tokunaga (since April 2025)

Chair: Keiji Kojima served as Hitachi, Ltd President and CEO before Tokunaga (predecessor, for the record); Hitachi, Ltd Chair title as published in Hitachi governance reporting

CFO: Hitachi, Ltd Chief Financial Officer as published in Hitachi executive reporting — subsidiary CFO not disclosed

COO / Other: Not disclosed as a subsidiary COO in sources consulted

Principal practices: Digital consulting and systems integration; cloud and infrastructure; data, AI and IoT (Lumada); ERP implementation; managed services; industry practices for energy, manufacturing, transport, banking and government. GlobalLogic (a separate Hitachi company) covers digital engineering

Partner ecosystem: Microsoft, AWS, Google Cloud, SAP, Oracle, Salesforce and ServiceNow — as published in Hitachi Digital Services partner pages

Clients: Enterprise and public-sector clients published case by case; full list not disclosed

Revenue: Hitachi, Ltd revenue ¥9.78 trillion, fiscal year ended March 2025 (Hitachi results); Hitachi Digital Services segment revenue is reported within Hitachi's Digital Systems & Services segment — subsidiary-only revenue not disclosed as a standalone figure

People: Hitachi group about 282,000 employees (March 2025, group figure); Hitachi Digital Services headcount not disclosed as a standalone figure

Footprint: Worldwide, centred in the United States, India, Europe and Japan

Contact: Official contact route via hitachids.com / hitachi.com contact forms

Website: hitachids.com

Honest framing: this is a subsidiary entry like IBM Consulting. Standalone revenue, headcount and current subsidiary CEO are marked not disclosed / not verified where Hitachi does not publish them, rather than estimated. GlobalLogic is a sister Hitachi company and is not double-counted here.

GAPS AND EXCLUSIONS, NAMED

Excluded deliberately: GDIT, Peraton and ManTech (held for a possible public-sector supplement); PwC, EY and KPMG (Accounting guide); Avanade (covered through Accenture); GlobalLogic (noted in the Hitachi entry, not double-counted); Microsoft, AWS and Google Cloud as firms (platform owners, not SIs); Slalom, CI&T and Stefanini (below this edition's global-scale threshold). Gaps inside entries are marked in place as not disclosed / not verified rather than guessed.
